

Weekly Specials Poster

Name: _____ Hour: _____

You attend East Minico Middle School and are in intermediate computers. One day your computer teacher is reading his email and he has one from the manager of the Happy Hamburger Hut, a very popular local restaurant.

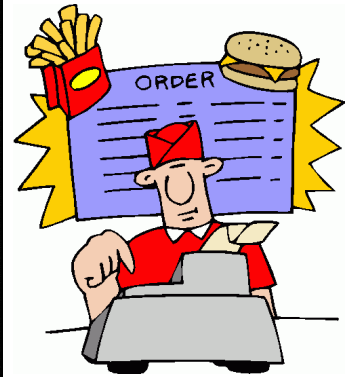

The e-mail tells your teacher that they are thinking about redesigning their “Weekly Specials” poster. This poster hangs up in their restaurant every Monday through Friday. The e-mail asks your teacher if his students might be interested in participating in a contest to design the weekly specials poster. If so, the winner of the contest will receive $100 and four free meals.

It just so happens that the next assignment is how to make posters. Therefore, your teacher emails the manager back and tells him that he will have all the students create their own version of the project, turn them in for a grade, and then send them over to be in the contest.

Your teacher teaches the students how to do the following things:

- Custom margins
- Borders
- Watermarks
- Fancy fonts
- Different sizes of fonts
- Different colors for fonts
- RGB color codes
- Right aligning
- Symbols
- Format Painter icon

After the teacher is finished teaching you these things, you ask the teacher if you can go on the internet and look at their menu. The teacher tells you that you can. After looking at the menu, you pick some of the main food categories as well as some different food items and create the project that you see on the following page.
